“Talk About The Passion” Playwright Graham Farrow Resident for DC Premiere of Synapse Theatre Company’s First 2011 Season Offering

January 11, 2011 – Bethesda, MD – British playwright Graham Farrow will be resident with the cast and director during Synapse Theatre Company’s staging of his critically acclaimed drama “Talk About The Passion”. Mr. Farrow, an award-winning playwright, screenwriter, novelist, and journalist from Yarm-on-Tees, Yorkshire, England, will participate in post-show discussions immediately following all nine performances at the Writer’s Center in Bethesda, MD.

The playwright states: “I am thrilled that Synapse has chosen to stage “Talk About The Passion” in the Washington DC area. I’ve been extremely gratified by the reviews and audience response in London, New York, and Los Angeles, and hope for equal enthusiasm from Washington theatre-goers.” From director and Synapse Theatre Company President Kathe Park: “Graham’s brilliant play partners perfectly with my vision for Synapse as a home for stories not often told on the stage. Having Graham in residence during the entire run is a dream come true.”

The two-character drama features Angel Brown and Craig Miller and explores society’s collusion in the glamorization of evil, and the desire for personal justice when a man’s child is murdered and the serial killer’s autobiography becomes a best seller. L.A.’s Back Stage West says: “Graham Farrow’s searing drama is like a sharp punch to the gut, the type that leaves you winded.”

“Talk About The Passion” performance dates are February 11-13, February 18-20, and February 25-27 at the Writer’s Center, 4508 Walsh Street, Bethesda MD.
